HOLY COW RIDE: A.K.A. CARY’S BIRTHDAY RIDE

By Cary Levin

Aug. 8th, 2010. The day started out with the forecast calling for showers and the temperature was 68 degrees. We arrived at McDonalds where we met up with the Jim G., Fritz G., Kate D., Dick S., Rich W., Ed B., Lewis H., Les C., Dorothy, her son Calvin, and Joel G. for our destination called “R Place” in Morris, IL.

Jim G. took the lead and Joel G. took sweep as usual.

Wimpy Les arrived in a car and then opted to go home when we departed for Morris IL for a long journey for breakfast.

Jim led us out on the scenic winding roads taking us through the southern west suburbs. As we navigated around the threatening storms Jim G. decided on his own, to change our destination “Star 34” in Sandwich, IL (and that’s the privilege of being the leader).

Star 34 staff seated us at one long table where the camaraderie started and we fed our belly’s. Jim G. sneaked out of the restaurant to his bike to retrieve my birthday gift that started the celebration. To my surprise it was a black sleeveless t-shirt from

Aug 15th: JDR ride, meeting in West Chicago

Aug 21st: Dinner Run to be at Leona's

Aug 22th: Field of Dreams in Iowa. This site is up for sale and may be closed after this year.

If you haven't been there before, plan on this trip.

Aug 29th: Open ride to Mendota Corn Fest

Our website now has the photos posted from the RFK from Mike and the Gold Classic by Virginia.

Photos are just fabulous. Check them out.

ICE CREAM...I SCREAM..ICE CREAM RUN HAS BEEN MOVED TO THE 1ST SATURDAY OF EACH MONTH DUE TO MANY MEMBERS HAVING A TIME CRUNCH OF GETTING TO MCDONALDS IN TIME.

NEW TIME, MARK YOUR CALENDARS.....6PM.

Please read your news letter. There is a very appropriate article on heat stroke and printed just in time for our 90+ degree riding days.

Sue H and Analea discussed the Fall Festival in great length. A sign-up sheet was passed around as to what food items would be donated, who would bring games, horseshoes, hula hoops, etc. A huge thanks goes up to Jim for printing up the flyers for the club. A garage sale was discussed at this event and everyone is asked to bring their items. Volunteers are needed to run the events/stations .

Other Business: Chicago's Ride For Kid's raised $258K so far this year.

Speaking of RFK, there was a heated discussion regarding a situation in which the Chicago's Task Force was short funds to pay for pins that are given to the police task force that handle blocking and escorting during the ride. The pins were made, paid for with a private credit card and the organization has no funds to reimburse the purchaser. Jim asked, via an article in July's newsletter, if the club would be willing to make a monitory contribution from our club funds. This motion was defeated.

Paulette made a motion that we donate $50.00 to this request and it was voted "NO".

Mark won the 50/50 and Fritz won the $25.00 gift cert from Des Plains Honda and donated it back to the club for the festival.

Meeting adjourned at 8:35pm.

WANTED: NEWSLETTER EDITOR

For three years now I have taken the responsibility of trying to put together a monthly newsletter to inform and sometimes entertain the members of our chapter. It hasn't been what I've wanted, but it was the best that I could do at the time. I've been fortunate and very grateful to our few contributors since I stepped in. With all the members that we have had attending our various events, I'm disappointed that we have not heard from more of you. I'm not an editor or a writer, but I saw Les needed a hand, so I stepped in to help fill a void. It is time now for someone else to step up and do the same for their chapter. The September election night edition will be my last. Les and I are not going any where. As always, you can count on us to help you get started. The same goes for our new chapter representative. We are here to help! None of us has the time for these volunteer duties, but if you care about your chapter and it's members, you just pitch in and do what you can do. Please contact Les or myself and we'll get you started.

Until next month, adios from the basement news bureau. Jim

WING NOTES FROM YOUR CHAPTER REPRESENTATIVE

Hi Folks,

WOW, the rides in July and August were hot, long and wonderful. Aug. 8th, Jim took the group on a 400 mile route getting home at 10:30 at night. (Glad I missed that one) my bottom can only take maybe 200 a day. See Cary and Virginia's article on page 1 of this newsletter.

The weekend of the 15th we did the JDRF ride to Buffalo State park. No rain! Thanks to Jeff and his crew for a good ride and delicious food at the end.

The 21st was our dinner run at my home in Elgin. The dinner started with corn and side dishes and a lot of sweet deserts. Jim set up a home movie theater in our basement. I thought I was at the movies with the large screen and a clear picture. We watched the Field of Dreams, with surround sound and a cheering audience. I can't wait to get there today! (writing this on Sunday the 22nd). Bev and I are leaving in about ten minutes to meet the group in Rockford.

Sunday the 22nd of August was our Field of Dreams 8 am ride. Lewis chose the Thunder Bay Grille in Rockford for breakfast. When we stepped out after breakfast, we were surprised to see Chapter D's Wayne Aten on his bike and waiting for us. As we stopped to gas up before leaving, we met up with our riders who left from our usual Sunday meeting location and time. There we met with Cary, Virginia, Jim L, his wife Kelly and their son Vinnie joined us for a brief time. Lewis took the lead to parts unknown after passing thru Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota we headed west to Galena and 20 to the Field of Dreams. (okay, maybe I stretched the truth a bit) We arrived around three and stayed maybe one hour. Mike Hanus has the pictures at his Kodak site.

Jim took the lead after Lewis lost his glasses and we headed home. We went thru Balltown, but no time to eat, so we just enjoyed the scenery and roads. Wow what a view from the top of the hills looking over the river. You know we could not go home without ice cream. Jim took us to the Union dairy in Freeport, and the Lincoln and Douglas Debate park next door for one last gas stop before heading home. We arrived around 9 pm. The group from McDonald's put on 420 safe and happy miles. I set in a tub of cool water for an hour before the feeling was back in my bottom.

Thanks to Lewis and Jim for a great ride and Joel as usual for helping to keep us safe.

Now some club news: Nancy Schneck has resigned as our State Director due to her new location. The position is still open.

Jim Garner after many long years is retiring as our publisher of the newsletter at the end of September. We are looking for someone to take over this position. Can you help? We will be taking nominations for the chapter rep position at our August and September meetings. The election will be in September.

Joe Hughes is still recovering at home and hopes to be up and about in two weeks. I would like to thank the Lord for a good safe summer.

Please remember our fall festival ride on September 12th at 9am from McDonald's.

Hope to see you soon, ride safe and have fun. School's back in session. No cell phone in school and construction zones! "You can win more friends with your ears than with your mouth".

Sturgis.

It was time to saddle up and Dorothy, her son Calvin along with Rich parted their separate way. I spoke up and said I would like to go to JC Whitney for my birthday. Jim G. obliged and led us back on the country roads to our next destination. When we arrived we all browsed the shop looking for good deals. Virginia came across her $10 bright yellow rain coat; what a deal! I came across a deal of my own; $9 highway floor boards. As we checked out, we noticed the rain had arrived and caught up with us, therefore we had to put on the rain gear and Virginia got to try out her new bright yellow bargain. We decided to proceed through the rain for about twenty miles until we rode into the dry, hot and humid sunny city of Shabbona, IL for ice cream at Screammers. At this time Lewis and Ed B. decided to go their way home as the rest of us headed for the longer route home towards the Wind Turbines.

As we arrived in the St. Charles area around 3:30 pm, Dick, Fritz and Joel decided to head home. I became depressed knowing that everyone was headed for home as I wanted to continue to ride. At that time Jim G. decided to call his boss (Dawn) to see if he can take me out for a special ride for my birthday.

Jim G. led Kate, Virginia and me through the northwest Rockford area where we stopped for Dinner at the Firehouse Pub in Byron, IL. What a great place and good food!

We then departed for home and took the river route towards Oregon, IL as the sun was starting to set. As Harry Caray would say... Holy Cow! I logged 409 miles, what a day!

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

SOUTH DAKOTA HERE WE COME BY DAWN GARNER

We departed for the Wide Open West on Sunday 7/26/10 5:30am.

Not sure what we wanted to see in the week we had, we headed out to see what we could see.

We had decided not to travel via the interstates, trying to take in all we could. So we headed out with our little “eager beavers” and off we went. Driving up through Wisconsin, on in to Minnesota and then on to South Dakota. Once we left Wisconsin we came upon the prairie lands. BORING!!!! We then grew anxious and we were ready to get there. We had thought about stopping in Sioux City, but decided NO, let’s just get there. We found a hotel in Sturgis, hotels were very scarce, but we found one. We pulled into Sturgis around 10:20pm mountain time and called it a night. We got up pretty early, we had looked for another hotel room, as the one we had was a smoking room and it was bothering all of us. Anxious to start exploring, Jim negotiated a great price for a hotel room in Keystone, just a stone’s throw away from Mt. Rushmore. We headed over to the Presidents View Resort waaaaaaay up on the mountain side, and some rooms even had view of Mt. Rushmore. We checked in and decided to go to Mt. Rushmore. What a sight!! If you’ve never been, it’s best described as awesome. We toured the little museum on premise and walked around the base of Mt. Rushmore to get up close and personal with the Presidents. After a pretty full day there, we decided to head out to get some food for our breakfasts for each morning (trying to save a little time and $$ each morning) and we drove into Rapid City and found good ol’ Walmart. We grabbed a few items and dropped them off at the hotel room, before heading back to Mt. Rushmore to listen to the Army band putting on a concert and see the lighting of the monument. We were a little disappointed with that. It kind of reminded me of someone holding a flashlight to one’s face in the dark. That was it, no color lights, just a faint lighting. But none the less it still was great to see.

On Monday, Jim and I are early risers, I had walked down to the lobby looking for him and he says “Good morning, guess what we forgot last night, bowls for the cereal.” I had asked the hotel clerk where the nearest little convenience store was and he had said just down the street around the bend. So we thought, ok we’ll head on down, not brave enough to walk it yet, we got in the car, drove down to town, and started heading for the store, when we spotted a Super 8 motel, remembering the one we had just stayed in, in Sturgis, Jim says, “Hey should we see if they have bowls?” So I pulled into the parking lot, we acted like we were staying there, walked in, everyone VERY friendly, “Good Morning” they’d all say, Jim got a new cup of coffee, I grabbed bowls and spoons, that we also forgot, and couldn’t resist grabbing one of their great muffins and out the door we went. Thank God for continental breakfasts! We got back to the room, fed the girls and out the door we went again, heading to Sturgis first, we looked around for a while in the stores and with all the vendors selling their wares for Sturgis 2010. We tired of that pretty fast and elected to head out to Deadwood, SD. I have to admit, I was a little leery of going there, we’re not gamblers and from what we read it was a gamblin’ town. We drove in and I was in awe. I resembled an old mining town, and Jim was told to check out a place to eat, owned by Kevin Costner, part pub, part casino, so we headed there for lunch. Apparently there were 2 entrances, but we walked right in the casino with the girls and nothing was said. How cool!! They directed us up 2 flights of stairs, past the slot machines and craps tables to get to the pub, and along the way they had on display, a lot of his costumes and memorabilia from many of his movies. We had a buffalo burger and headed out. We took a one hour tour of Deadwood, to get some history and hear about Wild Bill Hickok and Calamity Jane. The tour explains a lot about Wild Bill’s history, then took us to the grave sites and a lookout area for picture taking. The view was breath taking. Little did we know, we hadn’t even begun to see the wonderful country side South Dakota has to offer. We had finished the tour and decided to stay for a re-enactment of Wild Bill’s assassination. Again, back into the casino, nobody flinched to see the kids in there. We should’ve given them each a quarter to see if they’d win anything! HA HA. BUT, we didn’t. We watched the performance and headed back to the hotel room via Spearfish Canyon. We let Carrienne drive through the canyon, some twisty roads, but mostly beautiful scenery. We’d pull off at different spots for picture taking, and one spot we found had a little creek (rapid moving) running alongside the road. We got out to take photos and Amanda and I decided to play “Pooh sticks” (that’s where you each grab a little stick, throw it into the rushing water off one side of the bridge and race to the other side of the bridge to watch to see who’s stick comes out first.) Well, Jim decided to play too, but all he could find to throw in was a rock. Needless to say, he never won! After Amanda found her smiling daisy, (yes, it’s a daisy with a actual smiley face on it) we bottled her daisy and back on the road we went again, We stopped in Lead for a quick bite to eat for dinner and headed back to the hotel before we lost all daylight. You see, the roads here were beyond belief, but you really have to watch for the wild life, the area we were in you could see anything from a mountain lion, wild turkey, buffalo, to a wild burro. You just never know what you

On Wednesday, we decided to opt out of the “Garner continental breakfast” and head back to Mt. Rushmore to have breakfast with the Presidents. What a view!! There was hardly any one there at 8am, they served a moderately affordable breakfast and you could sit in the café’ and you were able to see Mt. Rushmore without fighting hundreds of tourists. It was great. We took a few more photos of the kids and Presidents, then headed on over to see Crazy Horse memorial.

It didn’t take long to get through all the exhibits at Crazy Horse, so we elected to head out to see Devil’s Tower in Wyoming. As we were driving out of Crazy Horse, we saw signs for Jewel Caverns. We tried to get in a tour, but they sell out real quick there. So we got back in the car and continued on. 3 hours later...we arrive at Devil’s Tower, it was massive. We drove through prairie dog country, hundreds of them everywhere, on up to the enormous rock formation. Jim and the girls decided to climb up the lower ridge of the rock. They said it was a lot easier going down. I tried videotaping and taking photos of them in their journey, but it became difficult at times as they would disappear behind the huge pieces of rock that had fallen and settled near the ground. After about a 1/2hr we decided to head on back to the hotels, but not without stopping to see the prairie dogs. It was such a sight; I was able to crawl very close to them to take pictures. I’d say I was about 3 feet away and they didn’t budge. Except for the leader of the pack, he would turn his fuzzy little bottom toward me and shake it back and forth while wiggling his tail and squeaking. It was adorable. We said goodbye to the fur balls and stopped at the trading post for ice cream and back on the road for the “3 hour tour”.

Thursday, 7/29 we ate breakfast in the room, then walked on down to the 1880 train depot in town. They have a steam train that will take you for an hour ride to the neighboring town of Hill City, 10 miles away. They had old passenger and luggage cars that were once used in that era. It was a breath taking ride through the mountains and plains. Upon arrival in Hill City, we walked around and looked in all the local shops, then stopped in a local little restaurant called Desparados. All the food was home cooked and absolutely delicious. There was so much food. I would definitely recommend this place to anyone visiting the area. 12:30 we headed back to the train station to return to Keystone. The trains were packed. We had booked a reservation at the Jewel Caverns at 4pm and we were cutting it close to make sure we got to the caverns on time for our tour. We did make it with plenty of time to spare, we gathered our jackets and headed into the visitor center. They are the 2nd biggest caverns in the country and what a spectacular site. It was an hour tour and I could’ve kept going. The caverns are very fascinating to me. After ducking a big thunderstorm, we headed out to Dakota cowboys for dinner then back to Crazy Horse for their laser light show. Disney has some competition. It was quite a laser show and a night sky filled with stars to boot. At the end they shine a laser on the rock showing what it will look like once completed. It was really a sight.

Friday 7/30...it was time to check out of hotel and head home. We finally got the chance to walk around downtown Keystone and check out all the local shops here, we went into a local diner and had breakfast then did a little shopping. On the way out we headed back to Hill City to take more pictures of the train. We then thought it’d be great to ride through Custer State Park to see if we could catch a glance at the famous SD bison. When we arrived, we checked with the ranger to see where we needed to go to see the Buffalo. She gave us a map and on our way we went. After about an hour of twisty roads and open plains, no buffalo in sight. We stopped at the area she said they had been spotted but all we saw was HUGE buffalo Frisbees, not chips! We continued on the route combing every inch, just to get a glimpse of a buffalo. We finally came across a small pack of pronghorns, they resemble antelope. We were just about to give up when we came to the top of a hill and noticed a lot of cars stopping and looking down the road we see wild burros walking toward our car. They would walk right up to the car, look in the window and if you didn’t present any food they’d continue on. It was adorable. We had a few extra carrots and gave those to a mom and baby, took a few pictures and some nice video and off we were again, feeling like we had to see some buffalo soon. We were nearing the end of the 1st loop and off in the distance...one loan buffalo. It was a big bull and he was all by himself with no others in sight. We followed him and he ended up coming close to the road to take some good pictures and video. He crossed over the road, not paying any mind to the cars, walked to the other side, rolled around in the dirt and did the “happy buffalo” in the dirt. We were content; we had seen a buffalo and decided to hit the road as we had a six hour ride ahead of us for the night. We had just left Custer Park and drove around a corner and there they were!!! Hundreds of them, with lots of babies. It was a sight to see. It took us about another hour to get out of there. They were all over the road and hillsides. I could have watched them all night. We got on the road again and now started see all the wildlife, from wild turkeys to white tailed deer. They were coming out of the woodwork. We finally got into Sioux City at 2 am and the home stretch the following day. What a nice LONG and memorable vacation. ☺
